Pioneer Total Abstinence Association

A few of the existing committee have met in the last few weeks. With the help of the minute book we have a rough idea who has completed 25 and 50 years as a pioneer. But we are unsure as to who have remained pioneers so I would ask you to please contact the parochial house by phone or email before June 21st if you think you have completed or will soon complete either of these landmark occasions. Also we have very little information of pioneers in the Burtonport side of the parish, so if you have been a pioneer and wish to make sure you are registered, please make contact as well. You can phone and leave a message or email me at info@kincasslagh.ie and put pioneer in the subject line. We have not had enough members coming to the requested meetings to establish a new committee.

Elvis rocking in the Hills of Donegal Fan Club hosts "The Legend Show" on Saturday 27th June, starring Liam Murphy as Dean Martin and Darren Graceland as Tom Jones as well as their tribute to Elvis, at the Stepping Stone, Dungloe at 9 p.m.

Dry-Stone Walls Seminar, Glencolmcille

The County Donegal Heritage Office, Donegal County Council presents a free seminar on the heritage and conservation of dry-stone walls in County Donegal in Halla Mhuire, Glencolmcille on Saturday, June 20 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is an expert line-up of guest speakers and early booking is strongly advised. To book your free place, contact Donegal County Museum on (074) 912 4613 or e-mail museum@donegalcoco.ie.

Father Browne's Donegal

A book of Donegal photos by the renowned Fr Browne. Jesuit photographer Father Frank Browne, famous for his photos of the Titanic, was a regular visitor to Donegal between 1920's to late 1940's, where he gave missions in parishes around the county. As most of his preaching was done in the evenings, he was free during daylight hours to pursue his passion of photography. His photographs capture the landscapes, people, architecture, churches, curiosities and more of Donegal in the first half of the twentieth century. It will be launched by Donegal man, Denis Bradley in Donegal Country Museum, Letterkenny on Thursday 11 June at 7pm.

All are welcome and refreshments will be served. RSVP to Donegal County Museum, High Road, Letterkenny, Co Donegal T 074 9124613 E museum@donegalcoco.ie or to Caitríona Maher on 01-7758523 or email c.maher@messenger.ie

The Bank of Ireland Big Blue Box Challenge

A new fundraising event called the Big Blue Box Volunteer Challenge which will run from the 5th until the 19th of June involving 35 communities along the Wild Atlantic Way. 12 communities in Donegal will be participating in the event. And it is coming to Dungloe between 12.30 – 3.00 p.m. The Big Blue Box will travel from town to town by bike with the aim of raising money for the local St Vincent de Paul (SVP), with Bank of Ireland promising to match each euro raised in the local communities*. Bank of Ireland staff and members of the local community will travel over 1,237 kilometres and local fundraising events will be held in each town along the route. Inside the Big Blue Box will be a symbolic item representing each town, area or community; something that each community would like to share with their neighbouring town. It could be a jersey, a seed or a tree, a piece of art or a plaque or simply a message of goodwill that the local community would like to pass on. Members of the local community will be encouraged to nominate an item for inclusion in the Big Blue Box in their local Bank of Ireland branch as part of the initiative.
