Congratulations

A very special Congrats to our Choir Master Noreen McGarvey, who successfully secured a seat on the Donegal County Council recently. Noreen is a great community person, something she didn't pick up off the ground and has been given a confident mandate but the electorate to represent them for the next five years. We enjoyed the help of David Alcorn for years who we knew had the heart of the community beating in his chest, and Noreen will enjoy the same confidence.

Many thanks to our outgoing councillors for their generosity and kindnesses and fair representation in the past number of years. While the Church Bulletin is not a political publication, I do feel it appropriate to congratulate Cllr McGarvey because of her close links with our faith community.

Congrats

A special word of Congratulations to this lovely couple, although not from this parish. Aisling Gallagher and Frank Carberry wed last weekend at a beautiful service in the lovely St. Columba's Church in Glendowan. Aisling's godfather was the late Daniel Green of Mill Road, Dungloe.
